Contractor Induction Card

Congratulations on successfully completing the Gunns Timber Products (GTP) online contractor Safety Health & Environment (SHE) induction course. Attached is your induction Contractor Induction Card.

You will need to record your unique Contractor Induction Pass number in the site sign in book prior to commencing any work and show this to the site contact person and record the pass number in the visitor/contractor sign in book located in the main office/work area. Failure to record your contractor pass may result in you not being able to commence work.

If for any reason you cease to be a Gunns contractor or subcontractor, please ensure that your Contractor Induction Pass is returned to your GTP representative.

Contractor Induction Requirements

You are required to complete a Contractor induction prior to commencing work on a GTP site. This ensures that relevant SHE information is communicated including issues such as: high risk tasks, access to first aid, emergency preparedness, and incident/accident reporting requirements, etc.

The Contractor induction is required to be completed every 2 years, unless there is a change in site procedures, where upon advice shall be provided to your organisation.
